

What Faithfulness Means

Naomi Peña

He stood in the midst of the ground,
The Philistines stood all around
All of the men who had fought by his side
Were gone
But Shammah, the son of Agee,
Would rather die fighting than flee
And the Lord wrought a great victory
On a hill full of beans

*Where are the men who, like Shammah,
Will stand all alone in the fray?
Their last hope is gone as the enemy comes
But they stay
Fighting for what they've been given
Though only a small hill of beans
Who fight with their all 'till they give their last breath
Who know what faithfulness means?*

They stood by the world's greatest pow'r
Who ordered them thrown in the fire
For not bowing down to his image of gold
At a song
Though the furnace was heated much more
Then it ever'd been heated before
Still, it's flame could not burn the three men
Who stood up for their God

*Where are those three Hebrew children
Who stand all alone in the crowd?
Willing to face the fire,
Refusing to bow
Who stand for the faith they've been given
And trust in a God they've not seen
Who honor their God if he saves them or not
Who know what faithfulness means*

(Are you that man)

Where is that man God can count on

The servant that's worthy of hire

The man who will stand in the gap

And walk through the fire

Who stands on the Word he's been given

And trusts despite all he has seen

Who fights with all, though he fights all alone

Who knows what Faithfulness means
